

Laois Archery Child Safeguarding

Laois Archery is fully committed to safeguarding the wellbeing of its members. All members should of at always show respect and understanding for members' rights, safety and welfare and conduct themselves in a way that reflects the principles of the organisation and guidelines contained in the Code of Ethics and Good Practice for Children in Sport

Child Protection Officer

The job of the child Protection officer to have good working knowledge of the various child-welfare/protection guidelines and legislation. It is of course also the role of that officer to promote the code of ethics and good practice, and to report to the club Committee what steps the children's welfare officer considers are required to ensure the creation of a quality atmosphere in any club.

In short, the role of the children's welfare officer is to act as the voice of the children, at the highest levels within the club.
